

Meditation drawing event summary

The participants got familiar with the concept of meditation drawing and its benefits. They acquired a basic knowledge regarding the techniques of this type of drawing as well as the accessories to be used. We have learned how to fill in different shapes with previously planned and structured patterns, moreover the participants acquired how to create some of these basic patterns step by step.

The activity fulfilled my expectations, because people were open to ask questions, even to improvise during the process of learning. I could explain and share all the things I have planned for the event. At the end of the activity the participants were able to create their own meditation drawings alone – said Sipos Emőke the initiator of the meditation drawing activity.
